1.0 Executive Summary

1.1. Project Summary

Beginning in 2022 IMS Infrastructure Management Services, LLC (IMS) was retained by Fayetteville, NC (City) to conduct a comprehensive pavement condition assessment and pavement management analysis on City's roadway network. The objectives of this project were to: (1) perform a network-level condition survey of the City's 757 centerline miles of primarily asphalt roadways (2) provide City staff with an up-to-date PAVER pavement management system, (3) estimate the rate of deterioration of the City's pavements, and (4) estimate the future Maintenance and Rehabilitation (M&R) requirements for the City's pavement infrastructure.

IMS mobilized their Laser Road Surface Tester (RST) in January 2022 to conduct an objective pavement condition survey of the City-maintained roads. The collected pavement imagery, surface distress data and roughness were analyzed following industry standards to determine the Pavement Condition Index (PCI) as well as the International Roughness Index (IRI) for each segment of the road.

PCI scores provide an indication of a pavement's structural integrity and functional condition. PCI scores range from 0, indicating a completely failed pavement, to 100, indicating a pavement in excellent condition. IRI values measure the smoothness of a pavement in inches per mile, with lower scores indicating a smoother pavement. Pavement conditions were categorized based on PCI values using the criteria shown in Table 1.

Table 1 - City's PCI Categories

Condition Assessment	Typical Pavement Distresses and M&R Needed	PCI Range
Good	Fresh like-new pavement Preventative Maintenance: Crack Sealing	85-100
Satisfactory	Low severity L&T cracking and weathering Preventative Maintenance: Crack Sealing & Surface Treatments	70-85
Fair	Moderate severity L&T cracking Global preventive maintenance & localized repairs: Localized surface and/or full-depth patching, surface treatments, and thin overlays	55-70
Poor	Severe L&T cracking, low severity alligator cracking Moderate rehabilitation: Localized full-depth patching, mill and overlays	40-55
Very Poor	Moderate alligator cracking Major rehabilitation: Mill and overlays, and reconstruction	25-40
Serious	Severe alligator cracking, rutting Major rehabilitation: Partial and complete reconstruction	10-25
Failed	Severe alligator cracking, rutting and potholes Major rehabilitation: Complete reconstruction	0-10

The following Figure 1 provides an overview of the conditions of the City pavement network. The PCI of the Fayetteville Pavement Network is a 72.

1.2. Budget Scenarios and M&R Work Planning

The latest inventory and condition data captured during the survey was loaded into the PAVER software for analysis and M&R work planning.

The PAVER pavement management system was customized with City's rehabilitation strategies, unit rates, and deterioration models and was used to run several "What-If" scenarios to depict the consequence of different funding levels as well as the outcome of the City's current funding on street network conditions.

Figure 2 depicts the network average PCI for the City resulting from these different scenarios. The current funding level of approximately $4.7M per year will result in a 5-year projected PCI of 68. It is predicted that a total investment of approximately $10.2M each year for the next 5 years will be required to maintain the current above average PCI of 71.

Following the creation of each funding model, the PAVER pavement management program was used to formulate practical projects for the City with its current annual budget of $4.7M. The 5-year recommended M&R plan color-coded by activity and year is presented as a map and provided in Appendix C.

The analysis and data presented in this report are based on the inspections performed by IMS in January 2022 on the City's pavement network, available work history, and other assumptions elaborated in the report. The information presented in the Executive Summary is summarized from various sections of this report. It is essential that reviewers familiarize themselves with detailed information provided in subsequent sections of this report prior to making any specific decisions based on these results.

2.0 Principles of Pavement Management

2.1. Foreword

The fundamentals of pavement management are discussed in this section. The goal of a pavement management program is to minimize the life-cycle costs of all pavements managed by an agency. Perform preventative maintenance on roadways before they cross a threshold where more expensive rehabilitation activities are needed. A successful pavement management program requires periodic updates in pavement conditions, deterioration models, M&R strategies, cost models, and evaluation of the effectiveness of M&R activities.

2.2. Pavement Preservation

Preservation of existing roads and street systems has become a major activity for all levels of government. The best method to obtain the most optimal usage of available funds or to determine the required funding to achieve a predetermined level of service is through the use of a pavement management system. An effective pavement management system can assist agencies in developing long-term rehabilitation programs and budgets, assess the effectiveness of maintenance activities and new technologies, and store historical data and images.

Figure 3 illustrates that, typically, pavements start deteriorating rapidly once they hit a specific threshold. A nominal investment in cheaper surface treatments at 40% lifespan is much more effective than deferring maintenance until heavier overlays or possibly reconstruction is required just a few years later. Roadways that are repaired while in good condition will have an extended lifetime and will cost less overall than those left to deteriorate to a poor condition. Without an adequate routine pavement maintenance program, roadways will require more frequent reconstruction, thereby costing millions of extra dollars. As pavement deteriorates, repairs become more expensive. This is because pavements in fair or better condition can be repaired with 2-inch-thick asphalt overlays or slurry seals, while pavements in worse condition require full depth repairs that extend 4-inches or more.

(Values shown for illustrative purposes only)

As shown in Figure 4 the primary objective of pavement management is to preserve the pavements in good condition rather than wait until a reconstruction is necessary.

The key to a successful pavement management program is to develop a reasonably accurate deterioration curve of the pavements, and then identify an optimal timing and rehabilitation strategy. The outcome of this exercise is the long-term cost savings and increase in network level pavement quality over time.

A successful pavement management program requires periodic updates in pavement conditions, deterioration models, and cost models, and evaluation of the effectiveness of M&R activities.

2.3. Summary

The goal of a pavement management program is to delay the inevitable total reconstruction for as long as practical through application of routine M&R strategies. The outcome of this exercise is the long-term cost savings and increase in network level pavement quality over time.

3.0 The Pavement Management Process

3.1. Foreword

This section reviews the process and standards that were followed to satisfy the scope of this project. The section provides a summary of the PAVER pavement management system that was implemented in the City, as well as a review of the technology that was mobilized by IMS to collect pavement condition data. Following a summary of each pavement distress, this section will outline the methods used in the PAVER system to calculate the PCI and roughness score for each pavement segment.

3.2. IMS Pavement Management Process Overview

As shown in Figure 5, the IMS RST was mobilized to the City to conduct an objective survey and to collect pavement imagery, roadway geometry, longitudinal and transverse profile, and surface distress data.

The collected pavement imagery, and surface distress data were analyzed following the ASTM D6433 to determine the PCI. The pavement longitudinal profile data was also analyzed based on ASTM E1926 to assess its roughness through determination of the International Roughness Index (IRI).

Following the pavement condition assessment, the PAVER pavement management system was implemented and updated with the latest inventory and condition data. It was used to run several "What-If" scenarios to depict the consequence of different funding levels as well as the outcome of the City's current funding on street network conditions.

3.3. PAVER Pavement Management System

PAVER is a pavement management software package developed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' Construction Engineering Research Laboratory. The software package includes a set of engineering tools that assists agencies in determining when, where, and what level of pavement M&R is required and approximately how much it will cost. The system provides a suite of pavement management tools, or "modules", that will help the City with the following tasks:

- Developing and organizing their pavement inventory.
- Assessing the current condition of their pavements.
- Developing models to predict future pavement conditions.
- Reporting on past and future pavement performance.
- Developing scenarios for M&R based on either funding or pavement condition goals.
- Planning M&R projects.

The PAVER User Manual, which is available as a navigable PDF file in the PAVER software provides more details on various functionalities of the program.

3.4. Pavement Condition Survey

One of the primary objectives of this project was to perform a comprehensive pavement condition survey on the City's roadway network and perform an imagery-based PCI survey on the collected data using the guidelines presented in ASTM D6433.

A specialized piece of survey equipment – referred to as the RST – was used to collect observations on the condition of the pavement surface, as well as to collect high-definition digital imagery and spatial coordinate information. The RST is equipped with the second edition of 3D Laser Crack Measurement System (LCMS-2) and provides a continuous scan of a 4m wide lane width (shown in Figure 6) with 1mm resolution and can operate at speeds up to 60-mph.

The LCMS-2 system allows for automated detection of pavement distresses including various types of cracks, raveling, edge drop-offs, potholes, macrotexture, and rutting. The system also automatically determines the presence of paint stripes which help in identifying the pavement lane.

Data collection was performed during daytime and only during dry weather conditions. Data collection was performed while observing all traffic rules and at posted speed limits. Arterials and Collectors were surveyed in two passes (one pass in each direction) and residential roads were surveyed in one pass.

3.5. Pavement Condition Data Analysis

Following the pavement condition data collection, the 3D images and pavement profile captured by the RST were analyzed following industry standards to determine the PCI and IRI for each block of the road. The following describes the method used to determine each index.

Pavement Condition Index (PCI) – The Laser RST collects surface distress observations based on the extent and severity of distresses encountered along the length of the roadway following ASTM D6433 protocols for asphalt and concrete pavements. The surface distress condition (cracking, potholes, raveling) is considered by the traveling public to be the most important aspect in assessing the overall pavement condition.

Presented on a 0 to 100 scale, the PCI is an aggregation of the observed pavement defects. Within the PCI, not all distresses are weighted equally. Certain load associated distresses (caused by traffic loading), such as rutting or alligator cracking have a much higher impact on the surface distress index than non-load associated distresses such as raveling or patching. Even at low extents and moderate severity – less than 10% of the total area – these distresses can drop the PCI considerably. ASTM D6433 also has algorithms within it to correct for multiple or overlapping distresses within a segment.

The following Table 2 provides a description of major distress types identified in the network:

Table 2- Pavement Distress Descriptions

Alligator Cracking – Quantified by the severity of the failure and number of square feet. As a load associated distress, this distress has a significant impact on the condition score, even at low extents.

Wheel Path Rutting – Starting at a minimum depth of ¼ inch, wheel path ruts are quantified by their depth and the number of square feet encountered. Like alligator cracking, low densities of rutting can have a large impact on the final condition score.

Longitudinal & Transverse Cracks – Quantified by their length and width. These cracks can be the result of pavement shrinkage, or construction issues.

Block Cracking – Quantified by their width and number of square feet, these cracks form by interconnected longitudinal and transverse cracks that divide the pavement into approximately rectangular pieces.

Patching – Quantified by the extent and quality of patches. Even a good quality patch is considered a surface defect and affects the conditions.

Raveling – Loss of course aggregate materials on the pavement surface and is measured by the severity and number of square feet affected.

Bleeding – the presence of free asphalt on the roadway surface caused by too much asphalt in the pavement or insufficient voids in the matrix. The result is a pavement surface with low skid resistance. This distress is measured by the amount and severity of the area.

Edge Cracking – Running parallel to the road and usually within 1 to 2 feet of the outer edge of the pavement, this distress is accelerated by traffic loading and weakened base conditions resulting from poor drainage.

Distortion – Includes various localized unevenness in the surface of the pavement including bumps and sags, depressions, swell, corrugation or shoving.

Weathering – The wearing away of the asphalt binder and fine aggregate matrix quantified by the severity and area

The 0 to 100 PCI range is commonly divided into various ranges using descriptive terms. Divisions between the terms are not fixed but are meant to reflect common perceptions of pavement conditions Table 3 detail a general description for each of these condition ranges with respect to remaining life and typical rehabilitation actions.

Table 3 - Pavement Condition Index Categories

Condition Assessment	Typical Pavement Distresses and M&R Needed	PCI Range
Good	Fresh like-new pavement Preventative Maintenance: Crack Sealing	85-100
Satisfactory	Low severity L&T cracking and weathering Preventative Maintenance: Crack Sealing & Surface Treatments	70-85
Fair	Moderate severity L&T cracking Global preventive maintenance & localized repairs: Localized surface and/or full-depth patching, surface treatments, and thin overlays	55-70
Poor	Severe L&T cracking, low severity alligator cracking Moderate rehabilitation: Localized full-depth patching, mill and overlays	40-55
Very Poor	Moderate alligator cracking Major rehabilitation: Mill and overlays, and reconstruction	25-40
Serious	Severe alligator cracking, rutting Major rehabilitation: Partial and complete reconstruction	10-25
Failed	Severe alligator cracking, rutting and potholes Major rehabilitation: Complete reconstruction	0-10

International Roughness Index (IRI) - The captured longitudinal profile of the road was analyzed following ASTM E1926 to determine the IRI. IRI values measure the roughness (vertical displacement over a fixed interval reported in inches per mile) of a roadway pavement.

- IRI values less than 200 inches/mile indicate “smooth” pavement.
- IRI values between 200 and 400 inches/mile indicate a “marginally rough” pavement.
- IRI values greater than 400 inches/mile indicate “rough” pavement.

3.6. Summary

This section reviewed the scope and standards used in this project. The LCMS-2 technology was mobilized to collect pavement condition information, including roughness and surface distresses. Pavement condition data was then loaded into the PAVER Pavement Management System and through a series of calculations (outlined in 3.5) an accurate PCI was determined for each pavement segment. PAVER used this data to develop pavement deterioration models and M&R recommendations.

4.0 Pavement Condition Survey Results

4.1. Foreword

This section will review the results of the pavement condition survey performed in January 2022. First is a summary of conditions in the four functional classes used in the City analysis. Next, this section will review photos of the network taken from the RST. Finally, a series of charts and maps will summarize the findings of the condition survey and the overall PCI distribution of the City pavement network. The City PCI is a 72.

4.2. Fayetteville Street Inventory and Condition Summary

The paved roadway network covers approximately 757 miles of asphalt pavements.

As part of the scope of this assignment, the functional classification designations currently used by the City were adopted for their use in the pavement analysis. The City currently consists of four classes: principal, arterial, collector, and residential.

1. Principal (P) – all cross-City corridors consisting of 4 or more lanes, generally allowing access to vehicles from outside of the city. Traffic distribution would consist of a higher amount of truck traffic than other classes. Major cross City corridors with a landscaped median were also assigned to the Major Arterial designation.
2. Arterial (A) – these are the street segments linking the collector and residential roadways to the principal roadway network. They are generally two lanes across and have traffic volumes lower than that of the principal roads.
3. Collector (C) – 2-lane roads connecting local and residential neighborhood roadways to the arterial pavement network.
4. Residential (R) – These are the street segments consisting of all residential or other low volume roads. This category accounts for the majority of roadways in the City's pavement network.

Table 4 presents the City's inventory and pavement condition breakdown between different functional classes. Appendix A provides detailed inventory and condition data the City network.

- Nineteen percent (19%) of the network can be considered in Good condition and require only routine maintenance.
- Thirty-six percent (36%) of the network falls into the Satisfactory classification. These are roads that benefit most from preventative maintenance techniques such as microsurfacing, slurry seals.
- Thirty-five percent (35%) of the roadways are rated as Fair and are candidates for lighter surface-based rehabilitations such as thin overlays.
- Eight percent (8%) of network can be considered Poor condition representing candidates for progressively thicker overlay-based rehabilitation. If left untreated, they will decline rapidly into reconstruction candidates.
- The remaining one percent (1%) of the network is rated as Very Poor, Serious and Failed meaning these roadways have failed or are past their optimal due point for overlay or surface-based rehabilitation and may require progressively heavier forms of rehabilitation (such as surface reconstruction or total reconstruction).

The following graph (Figure 7) plots the same pavement condition information using descriptive terms to classify the roadways.

The City consists of 4 unique functional classes. Figure 8 shows the PCI breakdown of each of the 4 functional classes. The majority of roadways in need of heavier maintenance and rehabilitation, such as overlays and partial reconstruction fall into the Principal (Red) functional class, as seen in the figure below.

4.3. Fayetteville Network Condition Imagery

The images presented below provide a sampling of the City roadways that fall into the various condition categories with a discussion of potential rehabilitation strategies.

Failed (PCI = 0 to 10) – Complete Reconstruction

Como Street from Tina Drive to Goins Drive (GISID 2374, PCI = 8) – Rated as Failed, this street displays spreading base failure as evidenced by presence of numerous potholes. A mill and overlay on this street would not be suitable as the base has failed and would not meet an extended service life of at least 15 years. This street requires a full reconstruction and should be carefully monitored.

Deferral of reconstruction of roadways rated as Failed will not cause a substantial decrease in pavement quality as the roadways have passed the opportunity for overlay-based strategies. Due to the high cost of reconstruction, Failed roadways are often deferred in favor of completing more roadways that can be rehabilitated at lower costs, resulting in a greater net benefit to the City. This strategy however must be sensitive to citizen complaints forcing the street to be selected earlier. In addition, this type of street can pose a safety hazard for motorists since severe potholes and distortions may develop. It is important to consistently monitor these roadways and check for potholes or other structural deficiencies until the street is eventually rebuilt.

Serious (PCI = 10 to 25) – Last Opportunity for Surface Base Rehabilitation

Ferrell Drive from Gladys Street to Fieldcrest Drive (GISID 3084, PCI = 24) – Rated as Serious, this segment still has some remaining life before it becomes a critical reconstruction need. As evident in the imagery, a fair amount of the segment is severely cracked, and potholes strongly contribute to the lower PCI score of this segment. If left untreated, within a short period of time, a full reconstruction would be required.

On heavy traffic roadways, Serious roadways often require partial to full reconstruction – that is removal of the pavement surface and base down to the subgrade and rebuilding from there. On local roadways, they require removal of the pavement surface through grinding or excavation, base repairs, restoration of the curb line and drainage, and then placement of a new surface.

In general, the service life of Serious roadways is such that if deferred for too long, it would require a more costly reconstruction. Roadways rated as Poor are typically selected first for rehabilitation as they provide the greatest cost/benefit to the City – that is the greatest increase in life per rehabilitation dollar spent.

Very Poor (PCI = 25 to 40) – Moderate to Thick Overlays

Sourwood Drive from Veanna Drive to Rustland Drive (GISID 7716, PCI = 35) – Very Poor roadways have distresses that tend to be localized, but moderate to severe in nature – that is they do not extend the full length of the segment. On this segment the evidence of deterioration is the extensive alligator cracking which can be clearly seen in the image above. Crack seal has been applied in the past, but with little success in stopping the spread of alligator cracking.

Very Poor roadways that display high amounts of load associated distresses are selected as a priority for rehabilitation as they provide the greatest cost/benefit to the City. If left untreated, Very Poor roadways with high amounts of load associated distresses would deteriorate to become partial reconstruction candidates. Very Poor roadways that are failing due to materials issues or non-load associated failures may become suitable candidates for thick overlays if deferred, without a significant cost increase.

Poor (PCI = 40 to 55) – Thin to Moderate Overlays

Scotland Drive from Scotland Drive to Alamance Road (GISID 13345, PCI = 48) – Several distresses are present, but tend to be more localized and moderate in severity. There is some block cracking across the segment, thought the left-hand lane has been patched recently.

Fair (PCI = 55 to 70) – Surface Treatments to Thin Overlays

Little Beaver Drive from Nato Road to Fargo Drive (GISID 7293, PCI = 56) – Rated as Fair with the primary cause of deterioration is the transverse and longitudinal cracking. It also displays small amounts of load associated distresses that can easily be removed to restore the visual appearance of the roadway. The existing surface should be milled and the failed areas patched before restoring the surface with an overlay. Streets in this condition are at point were additional deterioration will put them past the point at which a thin overlay is effective.

Satisfactory (PCI = 70 to 85) – Surface Treatments and Localized Rehabilitation

Mohawk Avenue from Cherokee Drive to Catawba Street (GISID 8518, PCI = 70) – Rated as Satisfactory, this road displays minor amounts of longitudinal and transverse cracking. This street is an example of a candidate for preventative maintenance such as a cape seal to extend the life of a roadway.

Routine maintenance such as crack sealing and localized patching allows for keeping the cracks as waterproof as possible. By keeping water out of the base layers, the pavement life is extended without the need for heavier rehabilitations.

Good (PCI = 85 to 100)

Belvedere Avenue from Greenland Drive to Westmont Drive (GISID 1583, PCI = 100) – Rated as Good, displaying little to no surface distresses. The ride is smooth and the surface and the base is strong. As long as load associated distress do not appear, this road will be an excellent candidate for a slurry seal in several years.

4.4. Summary

Section 4 reviewed the results of the condition survey in the City. The section described each of the four functional classifications in the City and outlined their respective conditions on the PCI scale. The PCI scale was explained further through a series of pavement photographs that were taken during the 2022 survey. The network average PCI in Fayetteville is a 72.

5.0 Rehabilitation Plan and Budget Development

5.1. Foreword

This section discusses the results of the pavement management analysis that was performed using the PAVER pavement management system. First is an overview of the assumptions that were used when implementing the system. Some of these include the development of accurate unit rates, and the selection methodology for rehabilitation candidates. Next, in 5.3, the results of each of the various budget runs is detailed, along with their resulting conditions. This is highlighted further through a series of charts that are used to demonstrate the positives and negatives of various funding models. Finally, the City's selected budget is presented through a map and chart outlining the 5-year anticipated condition.

5.2. Key Analysis Set Points and Assumptions

The PAVER program requires user inputs to complete its condition forecasting, prioritization, and budget analysis. The M&R analyses were based on the results of the 2022 PCI survey and the pavement inventory and historical work records provided by the City and stored in the City's PAVER database. The other assumptions made in our analyses include:

- Pavement Performance Curves: Pavement performance curves (aka deterioration curves) are used to predict future pavement conditions. PAVER allows for historical M&R and inspection data to be used to build deterioration models that reflect actual pavement conditions over time for pavement families that share similar characteristics (e.g. functional class, pavement use, pavement type, pavement strength, AADT, soil properties, and construction methods).
- Critical PCI: Paver allows the user to pick a point in the pavement performance curve where rehabilitation is deemed most necessary. The Critical PCI value represents the condition at or below which Major M&R (e.g., resurfacing and reconstruction) is typically recommended. A PCI value of 60 has been chosen for all the city's roadways as this numerical value allows roads a cushion of 2-3 years before thin overlays become ineffective. Performing major M&R on pavements that are closer to the critical PCI of 60 through resurfacing, rather than waiting for these pavements to deteriorate further to reconstruction is generally more cost effective and is prioritized in PAVER.
- M&R Categories, Rates, and Policies: PAVER groups M&R activities into four categories designated as Major, Global Preventive, Localized Preventive, and Localized Stopgap work.
    - Major M&R: major M&R include structural overlays, mill and overlays, and partial and full reconstructions activities and reset the PCI to 100. Table 5 presents estimated unit costs and recommended PCI ranges for various major M&R activities provided by the City. The estimated costs presented should be considered rough estimates based on the assumed unit costs only and should not be considered engineering estimates.

- Global Preventive M&R: includes surface treatments such as Slurry Seal. This treatment should be applied to pavements in good or satisfactory conditions with minimal load associated distresses. It is represented in Table 6.

- Localized Preventive M&R: includes localized activities such as crack sealing and patching that are applied to pavements above critical PCI.
- Localized Stopgap M&R: includes localized stopgap (safety related) activities such as patching that are applied to severe distresses posing a safety concern on pavements with a PCI below critical pending the availability of major M&R funds.
- Selection and Prioritization of Rehab Candidates
  - Priority ranking - analysis in Paver uses prioritization for rehabilitation candidate selection based on segments Use and Rank. In the program "Use" defines the role the pavement plays (Roadway, Parking Lot, Driveway), while "Rank" defines its functional class. Since this project only focused on roadways, the prioritization will be entirely based on Rank. Generally, higher traffic functional classes receive a higher priority. This ensures that roadways that service the most residents undergo rehabilitation first to provide as much benefit per person as possible.
  - Proximity to Critical PCI - when selecting major M&R candidates for pavements below critical PCI, pavements with PCI values closer to the critical PCI of 60 receive a higher priority to allow for more resurfacing projects, rather than waiting for these pavements to deteriorate further to become reconstruction candidates.

The net result of the five-year plans is a program that favors global surface treatments, followed by moderate to thick overlays, then partial reconstruction projects, and finally full reconstruction projects. The 5-year projected results of the 2022 budget runs as presented in Table 7.

5.3. Network Budget Analysis Models

An analysis containing a total of 8 profile budget runs was prepared for the City starting in fiscal year 2022 and running through 2026. The analysis results are summarized below:

- Do Nothing (illustrated in Figure 18) – This option identifies the effect of spending no capital for 5 years. After 5 years, this scenario results in a network average PCI drop from a 72 to a 64 and an increase in backlog to nearly $192M.
- Fayetteville $4.7M Budget (Green Line) – This represents the City's current average annual budget of $4.7M/Yr dedicated to pavement preservation and rehabilitation. This level of funding will result in a network average PCI score of 68 and a backlog of $172M.
- Maintain PCI – this budget represents the cost to maintain the current PCI level at 71 and will cost approximately $10.2M.
- Eliminate Backlog – A final budget was run to determine the cost associated with reducing the backlog to $0. This would cost approximately $33.5M/Yr and will result in a PCI of 86.

The results of the analysis are summarized in Figure 16. The X-axis highlights the annual budget, while the Y-axis plots the 5 Year Post Rehab Network Average PCI value. The diagonal blue line is the results of the pavement analysis (the Fayetteville model profile).

Figure 18 presents the analysis results on an annual basis. This shows that if the budget falls below $10.2M/Yr (Maintain PCI), over time the overall condition of the roads will deteriorate as backlog continues to grow.

5.4. Post Rehabilitation Condition

The following (Figure 19) compares the current network condition distribution (Red) against what the 5-year post rehabilitation distribution would be in 2026 at with the current budget of $4.7M/Yr (Tan). With the City's current annual budget dedicated to pavement M&R and previously planned projects, the average PCI is expected to decrease to a 68 by the end of the five-year plan.

Finally, the PAVER pavement management program was used to formulate practical projects for the City with its current annual budget of $4.7M. The results of this analysis are presented in Appendix B.

6.0 Project Recommendations and Comments

6.1. Project Summary and Recommendations

A pavement condition survey was performed in January 2022 on the Fayetteville network. The results of the condition survey were loaded into the PAVER pavement management system. This system was used to organize a georeferenced pavement inventory, develop an accurate model of the networks condition and anticipated deterioration, and provide funding recommendations for various level-of-service goals.

For the City to get the most out of their PAVER system it must be updated regularly with routinely collected pavement condition data, M&R strategies and unit costs. This report outlines the most recent efforts to update and maintain the City pavement management system.

The following broad recommendations are presented to the City as an output from the pavement analysis and must be read in conjunction with the attached reports.

1. Fayetteville should adopt a level-of-service policy statement to maintain PCI at or above a 65.
2. An annual budget of $4.7M (dedicated to pavement rehabilitation) will achieve a network average PCI of 68 and backlog of $172M.
3. The full suite of proposed rehabilitation strategies and unit rates should be reviewed annually as these can have considerable effects on the final program.
4. The City should keep track of M&R work performed in the City and update the pavement management system with newly repaired roadways.
5. The City should resurvey their roadways every few years to update the condition data and rehabilitation program.

6.2. Closing

The IMS Team greatly appreciates the opportunity to work Fayetteville on this pavement management update. Over the course of this project it has become clear that the City staff demonstrates a strong commitment to provide the best level-of-service that they can to their community. IMS stands ready to assist the City for training and technical support as necessary, and we welcome the opportunity to work with the City on future pavement management projects.
