Uniform Crime Reporting

- The UCR Program compiles data monthly from law enforcement agencies which are transmitted directly to the FBI or SBI.
- The UCR Program is managed by the FBI.
- It was created in 1929 and collects information and crimes reported to law enforcement authorities.
- The hierarchy rule applies to UCR.

National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS)

- NIBRS is a nationally supported system which collects detailed information to include information about offense, victim, offender, property, and the arrestee.
- It includes all offenses within a single incident.
- The hierarchy rule is eliminated with NIBRS.
- We have transitioned to NIBRS as of November 1, 2018.
- The SBI is requiring North Carolina agencies to transition by January 1, 2019.
- The FBI is requiring agencies nationwide to transition to NIBRS by 2021.

UCR vs. NIBRS

- Unlike UCR, NIBRS includes all offenses within a single incident and additional aspects about each event.
- NIBRS will improve the detail and overall quality of crime data, which will help law enforcement and communities around the country use resources more strategically and effectively.
- BUT- Agencies can expect citizens to have the perception that crime has increased.

UCR vs. NIBRS

Example

- Two offenders robbed a bar at gunpoint. One of the robbers found a female customer in the restroom and raped her there without the knowledge of the other offender. When the rapist returned, both robbers left.
- With NIBRS, this would be two reports- one for the robbery and the other involving the rape, because the offenders were not acting in concert in both offenses.
- With UCR, this would be one report with one case number.
